

Research, policy, activism: Ways forward in ending violence against women

A seminar exploring research methodology in the women's sector

Thursday 23 September 2010
1-5pm

As a second tier project working to end violence against women, Eaves' Lilith Research & Development team often find themselves at the nexus of producing high quality, original research, working to change policy, and campaigning as grassroots activists. This seminar will explore how the relationship between research, policy and activism is reflected in feminist research methodology, and specifically in Lilith R&D's work around prostitution.

Speakers

Professor Betsy Stanko - Senior Advisor for Strategic Analysis with the Metropolitan Police

Helen Easton - Senior Research Fellow with London South Bank University's Crime Reduction & Community Safety Group

Helen Atkins - Exiting Prostitution Research Officer with Lilith R&D

Julie Bindel - Eaves Consultant, Co-Manager of PEER

Cost

Eaves are able to provide this seminar free of charge, courtesy of London Councils and the Big Lottery Fund, however places are limited to 30 attendees.

Please find attached the registration form. To RSVP email your completed form to:
nisan.kesete@eaveshousing.co.uk.

Due to the limited space in this seminar, please do not request more than one place per organisation. We will confirm your booking via email, including venue details.